DETAILED ACTION

The response to the restriction requirement filed 9-24-07 indicates the wrong claims were restricted. The restriction requirement sent 8-22-07 has been withdrawn in favor of the following restriction.

Claims 1-16 have been canceled. Claims 17-55 were added in a preliminary amendment and are under consideration.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions, which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 17-46, 48 and 53-55, drawn to a method of making and method of using cells having a modified Rosa26 locus and cells having a modified Rosa26 locus.

Group II, claim(s) 47, drawn to a vector comprising a functional DNA comprising a gene expression cassette comprising a gene of interest operatively linked to a promoter or a DNA sequence that can be converted into such a cassette.

Group III, claim(s) 17-46 and 49-55, drawn to a method of making and method of using transgenics having a modified Rosa26 locus.

The inventions listed as Groups I-III do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: the method of making cells having a modified Rosa26 locus in claim 17 (the special technical feature) was known in the art at the time of filing.

The specification states: "WO 99/53017 describes a process for making transgenic animals which ubiquitously express a heterologous gene, wherein the heterologous gene is under the control of a ubiquitously expressed endogenous promoter, e.g. that of the mouse Rosa26 locus. R. Dacquin et al., Dev. Dynamics 224.245L251 (2002) and K. A. Moses et al., Genesis.31, 176-180 (2001) utilize the transgenic mouse strain R26R obtained according to WO 99/53017 for the expression of heterologous genes. WO 02/098217 describes a method of targeting promoter-less selection cassettes into transcriptionally active loci, such as the Rosa26 locus." (pg 3, first full paragraph)

The teachings in the art describe introducing functional DNA operably linked to a promoter into the Rosa26 locus of a mouse cell, which is meets all the limitations in claim 17. Therefore, the special technical feature claimed is not a contribution over the prior art and the claims lack unity.

Upon election of Groups I or III, applicants must elect a single species. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species: mouse, rat, Zebrafish, plants and invertebrates. The species are independent or distinct because the structures of each are materially distinct and separate. The burden required to search the species together would be undue.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claims 17-46 and 53-55 are generic to Groups I and III.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicants must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Michael C. Wilson who can normally be reached at the office on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday from 9:30 am to 6:00 pm at 571-272-0738.
